5 Essential Skills

Goal Setting

At the start of the sale, girls will set a goal. And it's not just about how many boxes of cookies she sells. Her goals should also be based on things she'll learn, experiences she'll have, and what she'll be able to accomplish once she reaches her sales target.

Decision Making

Throughout the sale, she'll be making decisions, both with the troop and as an individual. What will they do with the funds they generate? Where would be the best place for a booth sale? You're here to help her sharpen her skills for making good choices.

Money Management

For many girls, this is the first time they're responsible for handling money. Through the sale, they'll learn all about accountability and the importance of accuracy and safety.
